People who want to die need to rest, need financial stability, need a safe and beautiful home, they need good food, they need to be able to bring their pets, see or contact their friends and family, they need to be able to still decide when they want to go, when they want to go to bed, what they receive and if they want that. They need to be able to take a break or be able to decide to not take a break from certain things. They need to be able to decide when they advised as well as possibilities to get out of the addiction. They need lovely people, lovely animals and lovely people. And for those people who need to be able to their close ones to accept.
